PYNG MEDICAL CORP.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

MARCH 31, 2008

1. NATURE OF OPERATIONS

Pyng Medical Corp. is a public company incorporated under the British Columbia Business Corporations Act. Its shares are listed on the TSX Venture Exchange. The Company's principal business activity is the production and sale of the FASTI[™] emergency medical systems.

2. NEWLY ADOPTED ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Financial Instruments

Effective October 1, 2006, the Company adopted three new accounting standards related to financial instruments that were issued by the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants ("CICA") in 2005.

These accounting policy changes were adopted on a prospective basis with no restatement of prior period financial statements.

The new standards and policies are as follows:

i) Financial Instruments – Recognition and Measurement

In accordance with this new standard, the Company now classifies all financial instruments as either held-to-maturity, available-for-sale, held-for-trading or loans and receivables. Financial assets classified as held-to-maturity, loans and other receivables, and financial liabilities other than those held for trading are measured at amortized cost. Available-for-sale financial instruments are measured at fair value with unrealized gains and losses recorded in other comprehensive income. Instruments classified as held-for-trading are measured at fair value with unrealized gains and losses recognized in the statement of operations for the period.

ii) Comprehensive Income

The standard introduces the concept of comprehensive income, which consists of net income and other comprehensive income. The Company's financial statements will include a Statement of Comprehensive Income, which includes the components of comprehensive income. Cumulative changes in other comprehensive income ("OCI") are included in Accumulated Other Comprehensive Income ("AOCI"), which is presented as a new category within shareholders' equity on the balance sheet.

For the period ended March 31, 2008, the Company did not have any OCI. As a result, a separate Statement of Comprehensive Income is not presented.

2. NEWLY ADOPTED ACCOUNTING POLICIES (Continued)

iii) Hedges

The new standard specifies the criteria under which hedge accounting can be applied and how hedge accounting can be executed. As at March 31, 2008, the Company had not designated any hedging relationships.

3. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The financial statements of the Company have been prepared in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles. Because a precise determination of many assets and liabilities is dependent upon future events, the preparation of financial statements for a period necessarily involves the use of estimates which have been made using careful judgment.

The financial statements have, in management's opinion, been properly prepared within reasonable limits of materiality and within the framework of the significant accounting policies summarized below.

a) Cash and Cash Equivalents

For purposes of the balance sheet and statement of cash flows, the Company considers all highly liquid short-term investments with maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

b) Inventories

Inventories are determined on a weighted average basis, and are valued at the lower of cost and net realizable value.

c) Property, Plant and Equipment

Property, plant and equipment are recorded at cost with amortization provided for over the estimated useful lives of the assets at the following annual rates and methods:

Plant and equipment	20% declining balance
Medical equipment	20% declining balance
Leasehold improvements	30% straight line
Computer equipment	30% declining balance
Software	100% straight line
Equipment and software under capital lease	Straight line over term of lease

3. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (Continued)

d) Leases

Leases are classified as either capital or operating leases. Leases that substantially transfer all the benefits and risks of ownership of property to the Company are accounted for as capital leases. At the time a capital lease is entered into, an asset is recorded together with its related long-term obligation in order to reflect the acquisition and financing. Assets recorded under capital leases are being amortized on the basis described in Note 3(c). Rental payments under operating leases are expensed as incurred.

e) Research and Development Costs

The Company has been in the process of researching and developing a medical device on the FAST1™ emergency medical system. All product development and related administrative costs, incurred prior to and after commencement of commercial production, that meet the criteria of CICA Handbook Section 3450 – “Research and Development Costs”, have been capitalized. The accumulated capitalized costs are being amortized on a per unit basis based on the sales volume projection for the next 7 years. The unamortized deferred product development costs are reviewed annually and should the review indicate that the basis of amortization requires modification; the change will be applied prospectively. All other expenditures for research and improvement of the FAST1™ system are expensed as incurred.

f) Patents

Patents are recorded at cost and comprised of costs associated with preparing, filing and obtaining patents. Technology license costs are recorded at the fair value of consideration paid.

Patents are amortized using the straight-line method over 10 years. The amounts shown for patents do not necessarily reflect present or future values and the ultimate amount recoverable will be dependent upon the successful development and commercialization of products based on these rights. If management determines that such costs exceed estimated net recoverable value based on future cash flows, the excess of such costs is charged to operations.

g) Stock Based Compensation

The Company follows the recommendations of CICA Handbook Section 3870 – “Stock Based Compensation and Other Stock Based Payments” to account for stock based transactions with officers, directors, employees, and outside consultants. Accordingly, the fair value of stock options is charged to operations as appropriate, with an offsetting credit to contributed surplus. The fair value of stock options which vest immediately is recorded at the date of grant; the fair value of options which vest in the future is recognized on a straight-line basis over the vesting period. Any considerations received on exercise of stock options, together with the related portion of contributed surplus, are credited to share capital.

h) Earnings Per Share

Basic and diluted earnings per share amounts are computed using the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during the year.

The Company uses the treasury stock method to determine the dilutive effect of stock options and other dilutive instruments. Under the treasury stock method, only instruments with exercise amounts less than market prices impact the diluted calculations. This method assumes that common shares are issued for the exercise of warrants and options and that the assumed proceeds from the exercise of warrants and options are used to purchase common shares at the average market price during the period. The difference between the number of shares assumed issued and the number of shares assumed purchased is then added to the basic weighted average number of shares outstanding to determine the fully diluted number of common shares outstanding. No exercise or conversion is assumed during periods in which a net loss is incurred as the effect is anti-dilutive.

i) Income Taxes

The Company uses the asset and liability method of accounting for income taxes whereby future income tax assets are recognized for deductible temporary differences and operating loss carry-forwards, and future income tax liabilities are recognized for taxable temporary differences. Temporary differences are the differences between the amounts of assets and liabilities recorded for income tax and financial reporting purposes. Future income tax assets are recognized only to the extent that management determines that it is more likely than not that the future income tax assets will be realized. Future income tax assets and liabilities are adjusted for the effects of changes in tax laws and rates on the date of enactment or substantive enactment.

PYNG MEDICAL CORP.

3. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (Continued)

j) Revenue Recognition

Revenue from sales of the Company's products is recorded at the time the product is shipped, provided that collection of the proceeds of sale is reasonably assured.

k) Asset Impairment

On an annual basis and when impairment indicators arise, the Company evaluates the future recoverability of its non-monetary assets, including deferred product development costs, property, plant and equipment, and patents. Impairment losses or write downs are recorded in the event the net book value of such assets exceeds the estimated indicated future cash flows attributable to such assets.

l) Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, and the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses recorded during the reporting periods. Actual results could differ from these estimates and these differences could have a significant impact on the financial statements.

m) Foreign Currency Translation

The Company's functional and reporting currency is the Canadian dollar. Foreign currency denominated transactions is translated into Canadian dollars at the rate of exchange in effect at the date of the transaction. Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies have been translated into Canadian dollars at the rate of exchange in effect at the balance sheet date. Any gains or losses resulting from translation have been included in the determination of income.

n) Variable Interest Entities

The CICA issued Accounting Guideline 15, "Consolidation of Variable Interest Entities", to provide accounting guidance related to variable interest entities ("VIE"). A VIE exists when the entity's equity investment is at risk. When a VIE is determined to exist, the guidance requires the VIE to be consolidated by the primary beneficiary. The Company adopted the Guideline effective October 1, 2005 and has determined that it does not have a primary beneficiary interest in VIEs.

o) Comparative Figures

Certain of the comparative figures have been reclassified to conform with the current year's presentation.

	$ 267,168	$ 173,623

5. FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

The Company's financial instruments recognized in the balance sheet consist of cash and cash equivalents, accounts receivable, accounts payable and accrued liabilities, bank credit line, loan payable, and capital lease obligation. The fair values of these instruments approximate their carrying values.

a) Credit Risk

The Company performs certain credit evaluation procedures and does not require collateral for financial instruments subject to credit risk. The Company believes that credit risk is limited because the Company assesses the financial strength of its customers, and based upon factors surrounding the credit risk of its customers, establishes an allowance for uncollectible accounts and, as a consequence, believes that its account receivable credit risk beyond such allowances is limited.

b) Foreign Exchange Risk

The Company is subject to currency risk due to the fluctuations of exchange rates amongst the Canadian and U.S. dollars. The majority of sales are in U.S. dollars while the majority of costs are in Canadian dollars. The Company does not use derivative instruments to reduce its exposure to foreign currency risk.

c) Liquidity Risk

The Company is exposed to liquidity risk as its continued operations are dependent upon the Company realizing its accounts receivable to satisfy its liabilities as they become due.

d) Interest Rate Risk

Demand loans, bank credit line and capital lease obligations are subject to interest rate cash flow risk as the required cash flow to service the debt will fluctuate as a result of the changing prime interest rate.

8. BANK CREDIT LINE

The Company has established credit facilities for up to $500,000 under a line of credit with its bank. The line of credit bears interest at prime plus ¾% per annum, is due on demand and secured under the general security agreement.

9. GOVERNMENT GRANTS

- a) The Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade has agreed to provide financial assistance to the Company for a portion of the eligible costs incurred during May 2, 2002 to May 2, 2003 to a maximum of $50,000 under the PEMD Program. The Company is required to repay the PEMD 4% of any incremental export sales over the base sales from the effective date of the agreement to May 2, 2006. The Company has a sales baseline of $479,068 prior to any reimbursement under the PEMD program.

The Company reports the incremental export sales made to certain U.S. states to PEMD on an annual basis. The reports indicate incremental export sales to be less than baseline sales. Therefore, no payback to PEMD has been made at March 31, 2008. The Company is contingently liable for repayment of the $33,148 received under the program. The Company has not recorded any repayment provision in the financial statements, as repayment of the grant is determined to be unlikely.

A second PEMD application was made for a reimbursement of eligible costs incurred during August 11, 2003 to August 11, 2004. The Company received $35,625 under the PEMD program during the year ending September 30, 2004. The Company is required to repay 4% of any incremental export sales on the yearly $579,000 base sales amount from the effective date of the agreement to August 11, 2007. The Company reports incremental export sales to U.S. military units to PEMD and, thus far, the amounts have been less than baseline sales. Therefore, no payback has been made at March 31, 2008. The Company is contingently liable for repayment of the $35,625 received under the program. The Company has not recorded any repayment provision in the financial statements, as repayment of the grant is determined to be unlikely.

15. INCOME TAXES (Continued)

b) Future Income Taxes

Future income taxes result primarily from differences in the recognition of certain revenue and expense items for financial and income tax reporting purposes. The temporary differences that give rise to future income tax assets at September 30, 2007 are as follows:

	Sep 30, 2007
Future income tax assets:
Non-capital losses carried forward	$ 525,000
Property, plant and equipment	90,000
Deferred product development costs	(261,000)
Patents	27,000
Net future income tax assets	381,000
Valuation allowance	-
	$ 381,000

The Company has temporary differences between the tax and accounting bases of assets. In addition, the Company has tax losses carried forward from prior years (which can be used to reduce future years' taxable income and expire between 2008 and 2014), which totaled approximately $1,539,000 (2006 - $2,667,000).

16. ECONOMIC DEPENDENCE

The Company presently derives a substantial amount of its revenue from one distributor which contributed approximately 70% (March 31, 2007: 75%) of revenue for year to date ended March 31, 2008. The sales are made to the distributor under a distributorship agreement. The non-renewal or cancellation of the contract could have a material adverse short term impact on the Company.

Amounts owing from one distributor comprised 88% (March 31, 2007: 74%) of the accounts receivable balance at March 31, 2008.
